

Pitch for a Kinder Alphabet

sounds like an a but spoken in relief.

sounds like a b but with a smile stuck in the voice.

sounds like a c but through weak sunlight.

sounds like a d but spoken as a brother.

sounds like an e but wide as a mattress.

sounds like an f but it's a bird taking off.

sounds like an g but with stronger knees.

sounds like an h but covered in a soft down.

sounds like an i but without the need to be central.

sounds like a j but mountain-sized.

sounds like a k but full-heartedly.

sounds like an l but not adhering to your fingers.

sounds like an m but not pushing to be in front.

sounds like an n but without the need to repeat yourself.

sounds like an o but skimmed along the water's flat surface.

sounds like a p but spoken from the middle of a field.

sounds like a q but independent.

sounds like a r but coming through a front door.

sounds like an s but with firm sides.

sounds like a t but thought of with compassion.

sounds like a u but wards off evil.

sounds like a v but deeper.

sounds like a w but in its own right.

sounds like a x but securely fastened.

sounds like a y but still reaching.

sounds like a z but with a sense of resurfacing.